Nature's Retreat: Nuuksio National Park

After enjoying the vibrant urban scenery of Helsinki, venture into the natural beauty of Nuuksio National Park, located just 40 minutes from downtown. Established in 1994, this 53-square-kilometer park offers a stunning array of natural landscapes, including lush forests, serene lakes, and rugged crags, making it a perfect destination for outdoor enthusiasts and nature lovers.

Nuuksio's appeal lies in its proximity to the capital and the wide range of activities it offers for people of all ages. With over 30 kilometers of marked trails around Haukkalampi pond, the Kattila area, and Lake Siikajärvi, hiking is the best way to explore the park's diverse flora and fauna. The Finnish Nature Centre Haltia displays local wildlife and ecosystems and highlights innovative ecological design as Finland's first public building made entirely of wood. Whether you are hiking, foraging for berries, or spotting wildlife like the Siberian flying squirrel, Nuuksio provides a refreshing escape into nature.
